

Peter Wheeler 'Every Member Matters'

In May all Labour Party members will receive a ballot paper to vote in elections for the National Executive Committee (NEC).

The National Executive Committee is responsible for running the Party- making sure our Organisation is up to scratch, ensuring we have the policies needed to run our country in the interests of its people and keeping our Party strong and democratic with our members at the heart of everything we do.

To do that we need an NEC which is representative of our members. At present there are no elected members from the North of England, The Midlands, Wales, Scotland, the East or the South West.

That's clearly a weakness and that's one of the reasons I am standing for election- to ensure that the voice of ordinary Labour members is heard loud and clear when decisions are being made which affect us. If I am elected I will work for rule changes to ensure every part of the country is represented on the NEC- strengthening the link between the Party and its members.

It's not just about structures though, Labour Politics are about values. I joined the Labour Party at the age of 16 because I believed Labour existed to use the power of Government-both local and national- to improve the lives of people around us. Working together to ensure decent housing, a first class NHS, good education for all, a strong economy delivering secure, well paid jobs. I believe in strong trade unions and that Labour's policies should be based on fairness and compassion.

Above all, I believe we have a duty to the people of this country to re-build our party ensuring we win the next General Election whenever it comes-getting rid of this extremist Conservative government which is wrecking our economy and attacking the most vulnerable in our society.

I hope you will vote for me when you get the chance.
